OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.
FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30, 1866.

The President is fully determined on making fight against the Constitutional Amendment, as his message shows. Some of the more hopeful of the Republicans were indulging in the foolish expectation that having been beaten very decidedly the President would at once abandon the contest and urge the amendment upon the Southern Legislatures. Those politicians did not understand the man. He is obstinate to ugliness and does not soon forgive an enemy—unless he can make political capital out of it. He is determined to carry his quarrel into the Congressional elections and try, if he can, to defeat some of the more obnoxious of the Radicals. He will not come out squarely for the opposition, for that would be manly (as well as treacherous) and it would destroy his power to do any further mischief among Republicans. It would be playing the role of Jeff. Davis over again; only Davis betrayed a country, while Johnson proposes to betray a party. To go over to the enemy would be base, but it would be an open, and in a certain sense, a manly act. To remain in the party for the sole purpose of stabbing a class of Republicans is a meaner act. Perhaps I do the President injustice by such a suggestion, but I cannot interpret his message in any other manner. He need not have uttered a word on the subject, but he would do it, as it he was determined not to allow the Southern people to believe for one moment that he favored the proposition. It was a deserved slap in the face to those Senators and Representatives who have been crying out "The quarrel is over—the President will compromise with us on this amendment and now let us close up the ranks." Conness of California, Poland of Vermont, and Lane of Kansas talked in this fashion. They knew better, but they wanted if possible, to close up the quarrel and to stick to the people and the President at the same time. They are badly disappointed, and I feel sorry for them, especially for Conness, who only recently began this kind work. I do not mean to intimate for one moment that he is untrue to the congressional idea of reconstruction. It is only that he so strongly desired to retain some sort of a position with the President that he leaped forward at the very first opportunity to meet him. He was mistaken—the President does not compromise, but unless I am wofully mistaken in the signs of the hour, he will be badly beaten in the full election.

The campaign has opened already with spirit in Pennsylvania. Mr. Forney, the distinguished "dead duck," has taken the stump for Geary for Governor and himself for U. S. Senator. It would not in the least surprise me if he were to win the place. He has indomitable pluck and is generally successful in politics. The President will try to crush him out of sight (for he hates him,) but it does not look at present as if he could succeed. He may beat Forney, but he can't prevent the election of Gen. Geary as Governor. That is the present look, at least.

An interesting case has been going on in our District Court (Supreme Court of the District of Columbia) during the last week, and was decided last Monday. It was a suit for libel, the plaintiff being one McShon, a contractor, and the defendant Lewis Clephane, Collector of Internal Revenue in the District, and for many years an ardent anti slavery man. His offence consisted in writing a letter to the Secretary of War when the war was in full blast alleging that McShon was disloyal. He did so on what he considered at the time was good evidence, but found that he could not prove him disloyal when it came into court. This is perfectly true of a large majority of the "secesh" in this and other cities. We had the clearest moral conviction of their sympathies, but if compelled to prove it we should have found it up hill work. Just so with Clephane. The contractor lost his contract and sued for damage. The Secretary of War refused to give up the original letter, but there was tolerable evidence that a genuine copy had been produced. But what was rather more than facts, the Court (Judge Olin, formerly of Troy, New York,) sided strongly with McShon and was against Clephane and the jury, well it was a Washington jury and could not be expected to do justice to an old-fashioned anti slavery man. The verdict was $3,000 and costs against Clephane. He appealed to the full bench, and soon try his case over again on the legal points.

As a matter of course earnest Republicans all over the country are not a little alarmed. Is everybody who aided the Government by his advice (given honestly as Clephane gave his) to be liable to heavy damages? It is a serious question. I am inclined to think that the Johnson men in this city are delighted over the result in this case. They seem to have gone over to the enemy in their sympathies. But Secretary Stanton is grieved and considers the decision an outrage. This I know to be the case. By the way, Mr. Stanton has been quite ill of late, but is better now. He has gone out to the Soldiers' Home for the summer.

Mr. Washburne, of Illinois, was struck down in the House very suddenly on Monday. He fainted and was carried out. He was taken to his intimate friend's Gen. Grant where he lies dangerously ill. He has been very hard at work at Memphis, investigating the acts of last Spring, and undoubtedly took his disease (liver complaint) there. The suddenness of the attack and its malignant and dangerous character, arise from the fact that it was congestion of the liver. He became senseless at first and was deranged soon afterwards. Mr. Washburne is one of the pluckiest members of the House, as well as one of the oldest and ablest. He is not a favorite in some quarters; he is such a deadly enemy of all lofty schemes and extravagant expenditures. No doubt some of these gentlemen are glad to get him out of the way during the closing days of Congress, so that they can get through their wild schemes of plunder without meeting his vehement opposition. He carried his enmity to appropriations for private purposes to such a length that he was apt to oppose everything—a good as well as a bad bill.

The Senate has passed the Tax bill, and it will now go to a Committee of Conference at once. The House was three weeks in debating the bill, and the Senate was only four days upon it. It is, on the whole, a very good bill, and Mr. Williams, the Oregon Senator, has had a full share of the work in amending it, both in Committee and in the Senate. In fact he has suddenly become one of our most useful Senators, and is regarded as one of the ablest and most experienced men in the Senate.

The House is (as I close this letter,) at work on the Tariff bill. It is a compromise between the high protectionists and the moderate tariff men. It is as good a measure as one had a right to hope for, considering all the circumstances. It will be adopted without serious amendments, I think. The main work on this bill as well as the Tax bill, will be in the Committee of Conference to adjust the differences between the two Houses. Of late years, a good deal of legislation is occupied in this way.

Congress has made up its mind to give every thing necessary to build a railway to the Pacific coast, and it grants nearly every favor asked by the line which has the best chance of success. The House spent Tuesday afternoon on the Senate bill to allow the California Central Railroad to come eastward as fast as they can build the road, and to allow the Kansas branch of the Union Pacific Railroad to keep on due west after they reach Fort Riley, which they expect to do within the next forty days. They go direct to Denver City, in Colorado, and thence to Salt Lake City, Utah. They also contemplate running a branch southward from a point east of Denver City to ward Santa Fe, New Mexico. This company is in the hands of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad and their western connections, and is now a continuous gauge from New York and Philadelphia to near Fort Riley, Kansas, with only one unbridged river intervening at St. Louis, which will soon be bridged, when there will eventually be one continuous rail from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The bill is now in the President's hands and may have already been signed. Mr. Johnson has no disposition to veto it. A very strong effort was made to kill the bill in the House, but it was a miserable failure. But about 35 members voted against it.

We have news that Oregon has, after a very close contest, gone republican. A great deal of interest has been felt in the election and I trust that the last account will prove to be true. What is the reason we have to wait so long for news from Oregon? I have been a dozen times to Mr. Henderson and Mr. Williams to see if they had received private dispatches, but found them equally in the dark on the subject. What is the telegraph worth if it can't give us prompter news than in this case? I don't think the President felt much interested in the news, though he is rather friendly to Nesmith and it is now supposed that Nesmith has no chances for re-election. Certainly his course in Congress has, during this session, been "Democratic." He has voted steadily with the opposition. If there are any Copperheads in the Senate he has acted with them. Of course he will have little chance with a republican legislature. I believe that Mr. Williams, (though an open opponent of the President upon reconstruction), has influence with him upon matters pertaining to the offices in Oregon. This is what I understand. Nesmith is personally a favorite at the White House, but he does not control the offices in Oregon. If he does it is a new arrangement. STEAMER DAY.

A JAPANESE CIRCULAR.—The Japanese Government has issued the following circular:

"Persons wishing to go, in future, to any of the various countries beyond the sea, for the purpose of learning any science or art, or for the objects of trade, will receive permission from the Government, on making application to this effect.

The Government will, upon examination, grant a permit, with seal attached, to any such person. Let, therefore, the application be made out, giving the name of the petitioner and stating clearly how he wishes to proceed, for what object, and to what country he intends to go. Retainers of Daimios and Hatamotos should make their application through their master. Peasants and citizens through the Governor or Rent Collector of their place, or through the Lord of the domain, to the proper department. In case any person should go abroad secretly without a passport, he shall be severely punished. Therefore let everybody understand and observe this regulation.

The above decree having been issued, it is to be circulated and made known to every one, even to the ordinary people, in order that such as wish to go may make their application.

GOVERNMENT OFFICE, YEDO, May 23, 1866."

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 1, 1866.

Who They Are.

It is worthy of notice that the men whose names are signed to the call for the Philadelphia Convention, are persons who had no record for reliability during the rebellion. Doolittle, it is true, supported the measures of Mr. Lincoln's Administration with tolerable steadiness; but as his former political inconsistencies were well known and remembered, he was never considered as a man who could be implicitly trusted. Those who knew his history had a recollection of his conduct in 1856, when he suddenly somersaulted from stumping for Buchanan to stumping for Fremont. They therefore thought that the time would probably arrive when he would suddenly change his principles again; and in this, it appears they were not mistaken.

A. W. Randall, though a man of less consequence, is the full equal of Doolittle in the matter of making his political principles conform to the necessities of the times. At first he was a Whig. The Whig party being in a minority, Randall soon discovered that he was a Democrat. The Democratic party, having, in its turn gone down, Randall made the discovery that he was a Republican. At the present time he thinks that the Copperheads and rebels combined, will be able to beat the Union party, so he goes along with them. While a Democrat, he was one of the "Forty Wisconsin Thieves," and it was no doubt in this capacity that he became known to Beriah Brown.

O. H. Browning, of Illinois, was always a Whig, and Republican, but after his appointment as Senator in 1861, he strongly opposed Mr. Lincoln's war measures, and was a clog continually upon war legislation. He has never had the confidence of the Union party since that time.

Edgar Cowan was elected to the United States Senate in 1861 as a Republican, but his course has never been satisfactory to his party in Pennsylvania. His war record throughout, is that of a Copperhead. He used to talk by the hour in the Senate against the abolition of slavery, and in bitter denunciation of Mr. Lincoln for his "violations of the constitution." He is a fit person to be a member of the Johnson-Copperhead party.

Of Charles Knapp and Samuel Fowler, the remaining two members of the "Johnson Committee," few people had ever heard until their names appeared in the call for the Philadelphia Convention. It is not of the slightest importance, therefore, to inquire who or what they are or have been.

The endorsers of the call—the "we concur" portion—are, with one exception, straight Copperheads. Dixon, of Connecticut, acted with the Union party during the rebellion, but he was not a man of pluck, or of positive principles. Norton, of Minnesota, was a Democrat before the war and long after it had begun, until finding that he could not obtain an office without professedly abandoning copperheadism, he joined the Union party, and as might have been expected, took the earliest opportunity to betray it.

Hendricks, of Indiana, is a Copperhead of the Vallandigham school, and opposed the "infernal Abolition war" with his whole might, from beginning to end. Of J. W. Nesmith little need be said. He never supported Mr. Lincoln's Administration. In 1864 he affiliated with traitors at Chicago, supported McClellan for the Presidency and wrote a letter to Oregon denouncing Mr. Lincoln for insisting on the abolition of slavery, and declaring that he ought to be defeated because he had surrounded himself with dishonest men! Nesmith is no doubt a Union man, but in times past he has been one of those who were opposed to the employment of practicable measures for its prosecution.

Such are the men who are engaged in founding the "new party." None of them have been distinguished for anything except instability of political purpose and infidelity to political principle. They are pitiful shysters who will prove a curse to any party with which they may become associated.

When we last met Mr. Doolittle in Washington, in 1862, he confidently declared—against our most decided conviction to the contrary—"You and I will yet work together again in the same political party."—Beriah Brown, in the Herald.

And what Doolittle so "confidently declared," has turned out to be literally true. Who, then, has changed? How does it happen that Doolittle and Beriah Brown, so far asunder in 1862, are now "working together in the same political party?" The latter will assert that he has always stood stoutly by his principles; … it must be Doolittle who has "slopped over." Wouldn't it be just as honest for Beriah Brown to acknowledge that Doolittle has proven false to his party, as to persist in asserting that he stands where he always has stood, and that he has got back to the Democracy without changing his opinions? If he has not forsaken the principles he once held, we would thank the person who "saw him in Washington in 1862," to tell us how it comes that he is now consorting with Vallandigham and Fernando Wood to frame a new party to defeat his late political associates? What does Doolittle's declaration, as recorded by Beriah Brown, signify but an intention on his part, entertained as far back as 1862, to become a traitor to his party on the first opportunity. He thought the time was ripe for it in that year, when the elections generally went against Lincoln's Administration, but finding his mistake, he adhered to the party waiting for a more favorable opportunity to turn against it, which he now thinks he has found.

Mr. O. H. Browning has received his slice of bread and butter. He will be able to tell his grand children, "For my recreancy to the great Union party which saved the Union, I was made Secretary of the Interior." In a short time, Doolittle will be rewarded for his recreancy, by a first class appointment, say, in the Cabinet or as Minister to a first class European Power. Nesmith, who approved the "Bread-and-butter" call, will, after the adjournment of Congress, be appointed to the place to be made vacant by Secretary Stanton's resignation or removal. As soon as vacancies can be made, the other Mosaic disciples, Cowan, Knapp, Fowler, Dixon, Hendricks and Norton, will be provided for. Vallandigham, Bright, Faulkner & Co. must await the result of the Philadelphia Convention. If they succeed in getting through that trying ordeal without an open quarrel, they may reasonably expect to soon occupy the postoffices.

A Crusher on Thad. Stevens.—The State Rights Democrat re-appeared last Sunday, with the announcement that M. H. Abbott, late editor-in-chief of the Herald, has made arrangements to become its conductor. In the leading column we find the following crusher on Thad Stevens. We quote it, partly on account of its lucid and elegant style:

> Thad. Stevens, the founder of everything that is low, contemptible and corrupt, and the great Mogul of Abolitionism, who is so frightfully bitter against the Southern people, and who, on account of his extreme virulence toward the Constitutional rights of every thing South of Mason and Dixon's line, but has a decided love for the nigger, and who has had all the honors he could ask for bestowed on him by the Abolition party, was a few years since, equally as antagonistic to Free Masonry. * * * The more strenuous he toiled to crush Masonry the less … were his efforts, and the harder he works to obliterate the educated principles of Southern people the more ineffective will his political life prove.

Just starting out, as Thad. is, in his political career, the above will be rather hard on him. Poor Thad! We cant help feeling sad when we see a brigdt young man snuffed out in that way.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

San Francisco, July 31.—The Eastern line is in working order, but have received no news report to-day.

The steamer Oriflamme which left Portland on the evening of July 28th arrived here this forenoon. She brings $184,000 in treasure.

Messrs. Shafter & Heydenfelt sent in a claim to the Board of Supervisors last evening for $25,000 for legal services in defending actions against the city in the matter of city slip lots in 1861.

Private telegrams received in this city this morning dated New York, July 26th and 28th, announce the passage by both Houses of Congress of the original Tariff bill and its signature by the President, and further, that it goes into effect to-morrow. We do not know in what particular form the bill finally passed, but from the wording of the telegram, we should think it was substantially the same bill as that … the lower House on the 25th of June.

A dispatch was received in the city yesterday from New York conveying the sad intelligence of the death of Dr. O. M. Scherbach. He was reckoned among the prominent physicians of this city and had enjoyed an extensive practice for a number of years.

The Union County Convention met again last evening pursuant to adjournment. H. M. Hale was nominated for Auditor; Chas. R. Story for Tax Collector; George Cofran Street Superintendent and Wm. A. Quarles for Public Administrator.

At 15 minutes past 2 o'clock this morning the Night Watchman at the Metropolitan Theatre discovered dense volumes of smoke issuing from the rear of the basement of the adjoining building, corner Montgomery and Jackson, and immediately gave the alarm. The engines were promptly on hand, and in a few minutes several streams of water were dashed into the basement through holes cut in the sidewalk, and the fire was soon apparently subdued. Once in a while the smoke would increase, when renewed efforts on the part of the firemen would apparently quench the flames, until it became apparent the smoke was only from the dying embers. With this idea many of the spectators went home fancying that the damage was completed. The firemen only worked to throw on sufficient water to prevent the possibility of any new outbreak. Their security, however, was but fanciful, for while they supposed themselves masters of the situation the fire fiend was but resting and gaining more strength for another contest which commenced about daylight, when the sleeping flames awoke with renewed vigor, and in a few moments the whole interior of the building was in flames. The fire burst forth through the floor of the U. S. District and Circuit Court rooms, leaping and roaring upward until it had forced its way through the roof, and the dull dawn was lighted into a ruddy glow by its heavenward leaping. The transition was so sudden that the spectators were … and bewildered, and it at once became evident that the whole interior of the building must be … The whole force of the department was then centred upon the heart of the fiery vortex, but not until a late hour this morning had the fire been extinguished. The outer walls of the building are left standing, apparently uninjured while the … about the sides facing on Jackson and Montgomery streets are not burned; but where the U. S. Court rooms were, is now an amphitheater filled with charred timber and smoking ruins. The place looks as though the rooms had dropped down into a fiery furnace beneath, and the partitions are standing as before; but, as one steps on the threshold of the court-room and looks in, he sees down at a distance of twenty feet the remains of the temple of justice. All the furniture, Judge's bench, desks, canopies and heavy drapery, are gone, and nothing is visible in their places but the charred remains. The records of the court are fortunately saved, mainly through the exertions of Capt. Lees and Fire Marshal Durkee. Some of the papers may have been lost in the hurry and confusion of grabbing them up by armsfull and hurrying them out of a burning building in the night, but the destruction or loss of papers, if any are missing, will probably not work any serious injury.

The rooms on Jackson street were occupied by George C. Gorham, Clerk of the United States Court, and Daniel T. Sullivan, U. S. Commissioner. Many of the most valuable books and papers of the office were kept in the vault at the rear of the building, and they are supposed to be uninjured. Some of the books were considerably wet but not so much so as to make the writing illegible. The offices as well as those of U. S. Marshal Rand adjoining, are completely soaked but not burned.

Judge Hoffman's chambers on the corner of Jackson and Montgomery streets, and Judge Fields, on Montgomery street, were thoroughly and completely drenched.

Judge Hoffman's law library was taken from the building to Barron's building, diagonally opposite, and Judge Field's library was removed to District Attorney Lake's office in the Metropolitan building, adjoining. Both were saved and uninjured. The furniture and fixtures of the court room, however, are considerably damaged by water. The losses are not as yet ascertained, but will probably exceed $50,000.

Markets.

Flour—Beyond a little inquiry for China and the usual jobbing trade, there is nothing to report.

Wheat—$1 87½ for choice.

Barley—Sales at 85c ℔ 100 lbs.

Oats—New at $1 50 ℔ 100 lbs.

Potatoes—Missions are quoted at 50c@60, and boys at 50@55c ℔ 100 lbs.

The latest gold dispatches from New York are to the 28th inst., when it was quoted there at 150@150¼; sterling exchange, on same day, dull at 108½@108¾. The price here for legal tenders is a shade better, though rather fluctuating. Leading brokers quote 71@72 buying, and 71¾@72½ selling, closing with a tendency to the outside figures.

Sales of mining stock in the board this morning show improvement, though the transactions are light. From the board yesterday, Crown Point shows an advance of $100; Savage, $20; Yellow Jacket, 15; Chollar-Potosi, 4; Ophir, 3; and Confidence, $2 50. Belcher, on the other hand, shows a decline of $12 50 and Alpha 5, from last cash sale on the 26th.

Sailed—July 31st, ship Gen. Morton; New York ship Horatio Harris.

FROM THE NORTH.

Victoria, July 31.—The celebration yesterday of the successful laying of the Atlantic Cable was the most enthusiastic ever witnessed in this city. On receipt of the news the Legislative Assembly immediately adjourned and business throughout the city was entirely suspended to enable every one to take part in the joyous demonstrations. In the evening an immense meeting was held on the Public Square, which was addressed by the Governor, Mayor, Chief Justice and other eloquent speakers. The military, accompanied by the firemen with torches headed by bands of music then paraded the brilliantly illuminated streets for a few hours, when the proceedings terminated.

The Mayor will send a congratulatory dispatch to London to-day.

Seattle, July 31.—The bark Atna sailed from Port Blakely July 25th for San Francisco; cargo, lumber. The bark Oak Hill sailed from Port Blakely July 25th for San Francisco; cargo, lumber. The bark Leonore sailed from Port Blakely July 27th for San Francisco; cargo of piles and cedar bolts. The bark Scotland arrived at this port Sunday evening.

FROM WALLA WALLA.

The Walla Walla Statesman of July 27th, has the following:

Mr. Wm. Kohlhauf has left at this office a striking illustration of the productiveness of this Valley. It consists of eighty-three stalks all proceeding from two grains of wheat. The specimen was taken from Mr. K.'s farm, situated about a mile and a half below town.

Farmers have been unusually busy during the past week, harvesting their wheat and barley crops. The fears entertained by some that the wheat crop would be injured by rust, in consequence of the long continued wet weather during the Spring months, have proved groundless.

The District Court adjourned on Monday last, having disposed of all the cases that were ready for trial. We publish a list of the cases determined. It will be seen that there were only two criminal trials, and those for minor offenses.

The party which left here a few weeks ago, in company with a man from California, (who represented that he discovered last season a silver quartz lode, mostly silver, somewhere above this valley,) have been straggling into town, at short intervals, for some days past. The man who said he had found a rich vein of silver, is not now, it appears, himself to be found. In other words, it is said that the personage in question, having found, after searching all the mountains, ravines and plains across between here and any other place, that he could not find his discovery claim, concluded that he could find the city of San Francisco, at any rate, and so quietly made tracks for that metropolis, in advance of his silver-hunting followers.

Portland R. A. C. No. 3.—Regular Convocation on the second Thursday evening of each month.

By order of M. E. H. P.

STATE ITEMS.

A Dalles letter informs us that business continues quiet at that place, yet a fair trade is constantly being done.

There is more than an ordinary demand for harvest hands in Southern Oregon, and $2,50 per day is readily paid.

The citizens of Scio, Linn county, have offered a reward of $100 for the finding of the body of the man whom Thomas Smith confesses to have killed.

The Albany Journal says that the lately elected Judge of Linn county objected to the using of the Court-house for the reception of the soldiers, last week. The name of the contemptible fellow is Burr Morris; and it is only necessary to say, further, he is a Copperhead.

A petition is in circulation asking for a semi-weekly mail from Albany via Buena Vista, Monmouth, Independence and Eola, to Salem. A large number of those who live on the route indicated are now obliged to go ten, twelve, and even fifteen miles to reach a post office. Certainly here is a case for the attention of the Postal Agent.

A correspondent at the Dalles states that a man arrived there on Monday evening from Canyon City who reports that the Indians are again on the road stealing stock, &c. A few nights ago they visited Messrs. Penfield's ranch eight or nine miles this side of Canyon City and stole all their animals, and not satisfied with that but visited other ranches and drove off all the stock they could find. There is scarcely a night that the Indians are not on the road, or in the immediate vicinity of the City.

The party that went out from the Dalles a few days ago to the head of Dog river for the purpose of examining the practicability of turning the river into Mill Creek, have returned and report very favorably. They find that the stream can be turned with a much less amount of labor than was at first anticipated. The entire cut will only have to be two miles and two hundred feet, with twenty feet fall, and then there will be sufficient water to run all the machinery that ever will be needed at the Dalles.

We received yesterday a telegram from President Marsh of the Pacific University, who is now in Boston, Massachusetts, stating that he had obtained the services of Prof. Collier for the University, and that he will arrive in Oregon in September. President Marsh will probably remain at the East for a year longer, working for a larger endowment for the institute. On Prof. Collier's arrival, there will be three competent Professors in the Pacific University. We learn that a better patronage is promised for the Institution for the coming year than ever before.

We learn that the miners are at work in good earnest on the main streams in the John Day country, taking out a good deal of money. There is a good demand for laborers at fair wages, ranging from $4 50 to $6 per day. The scarcity is occasioned by so few having gone to the John Day mines this season, and by the action of the few surplus men already there in securing claims for themselves in the newly discovered districts. There have always been good inducements for laborers in those mines, without seeking the far distant Kootenai or Montana.

Mrs. Smith, wife of Wm. Smith, and their child, about two years old, residing one and a half miles from town, were both severely wounded by the accidental discharge of a shot gun on last Sunday morning. The mother and child were standing near the center of the room and the gun was leaning against the wall near the door, when by some means it fell, the hammer striking the floor with sufficient force to explode the cap. Two shot passed through Mrs. Smith's hand, and one entered her side. The child received two shot in the shoulder. The wounds are severe, but are not considered mortal. So says the Albany Journal.

In Columbia county, a Democrat who had never become a citizen of the United States, received a majority of the votes for clerk. The election was contested before Judge Shattuck who, as we understand the matter, decided virtually that there had been no election. We learn that under the advice of an attorney of this city, the County Judge has appointed a special term of the county court the 6th of August to receive the resignation of the ineligible and not-elected clerk and to appoint a clerk to fill the vacancy. The object of this proceeding is to avoid the uncertainty of a new election, and to secure the office to the man who at first received the majority of votes, he having, since the election, become a citizen.

New Inventions.—Yesterday we examined a very ingenious model for lasting and crimping boots, which entirely obviates the slow and laborious process as commonly practiced, and prevents the tearing of leather at the corners when crimping on the board. The model is in daily use by the inventor, and not only crimps, but lasts boots across the joints of the foot and at the shank. We should think it was an indispensible article in a boot maker's establishment, especially where fine work on patent leather is much used, as it operates easily, by the simple turn of a screw, and performs that part of the mechanic's labor effectually, which, is not unfrequently occurs, requires all the strength and ingenuity a man can command to accomplish. The inventor is Mr. Lunsden, and a patent has been applied for.

We were also invited to examine a new invention by Capt. Kern, of the steamer U. S. Grant, for filling steam boilers. It is a very simple contrivance, and we should think is exactly what is wanted by steamboat men. It is called a self-acting steam pump, and entirely does away with the force pump, now in common use. No force is required to work it, and there are no valves or other parts of the invention liable to get out of order. The inventor has put it to practical test on board the U. S. Grant, where it gave the best of satisfaction. In looking at the model we thought we could see in it a principle that will eventually supplant the present steam fire engine, for extinguishing fires.

Suswap District.—Some of the particulars set forth in this department of the Oregonian on the 30th, relative to the visit of T. J. Carter, Esq., to British Columbia we are informed were incorrect, and apt to mislead the public regarding the mines of Suswap district. Mr. Carter says that during his visit there he saw as rich silver ore as can be found in Owyhee, or any mining district, and there are placer diggings on all the streams putting in toward the lake. On the south arm of Suswap Lake gold was found in nearly all the streams. Several parties were prospecting in the district for silver ledges which are there, unmistakably, and those who succeed in finding them will be certain of a big strike. He was so favorably impressed with the district that he intends returning soon. He speaks in the highest terms of the facilities afforded for traveling to and from the mines, and gives the Colonies great credit for their good roads, bridges, and conveyances through the country, which are far better than any we can boast of, especially as regards the McAdamized portion of the route, the results of a liberal policy on the part of the Colonial Government of British Columbia as well as of Vancouver Island, in donating to settlers and corporations. Some such policy is urgently needed with us, at home.

Held to Answer.—Blanket thieves are apparently very common in these parts. We presume not less than a dozen persons have been on trial the past month, in the Recorder's Court, accused of theft of such articles, and they are evidently "laying up something for a rainy day," but all have generally come to grief before they were fully aware of the situation. Yesterday Jacob Hobert and H. Ziffert were held to answer, after an examination before Justice Hoffman, for stealing blankets from the dwelling house of Mr. J. B. King. At the rate these fellows are being brought up it will soon be necessary for this county to be made a separate Judicial District, with a term of the Circuit Court at least once in thirty days.

Opposition to Olympia.—The contract for carrying the United States mail from Monticello to Olympia having been awarded to a new company, and there being a difference of a few hundred dollars on a trade of the stock of the old line to that of the new, opposition now rules the day in that section of the country, and fare is from $2 to $5 through. The steamer Ranger, Capt. Fisher, has also started out in opposition to the Rescue, of the O. S. N. Company's line; and fare between Portland and Monticello is from $1 to $1. How long it will last is doubtful of conjecture, but we see that a number of our Puget Sound friends have already availed themselves of these favorable opportunities to visit Oregon.

Completed.—The laying of the Nicolson pavement on Front street was so nearly finished yesterday that we can safely call it completed. Now, gentlemen fault-finders, please inform us where we will be able to see eight miles of continuous road in this State or in California, equal to that between the north line of Carter and the White House! The completion of this street we consider an achievement worthy of our public and it now stands as a monument to the energy of Portlanders. First street will soon be completed below Pine street, and that will be equal to two monuments. So it goes—this city is marching along, and no mistake.

Sent Up.—Stephen Cardiff, an old offender, and Wm. Johnson, a juvenile who is receiving his education as an associate of Cardiff, were both sent to jail yesterday for the term of twenty days, upon conviction before Judge Hoffman, on a charge of creating a row at Willamette Theatre on last Saturday night. The evidence went to show that they "horned" their way into the pit for the express purpose of getting up a squabble. They received more for company sake than was bargained for.

Arrested.—A disreputable woman living on Second street, whose countenance is so black that it would reflect the rays of the moon at night, was arrested yesterday for having been guilty of ... in the front door of her house were she ... of like character ... the street. She will be tried to-day before Judge Hoffman, answering to the name of Colored Sal.

Caught his Man.—Marshal K... of the Dalles passed through our city on Monday night en route for the Willamette valley in pursuit of a horse thief from East of the Cascade Mountains. With his usual determination Mr. Keeler was intent upon having his man, and he was not disappointed, for he brought him back last evening on the Alert, and to-day proceeds with him to Dalles City. The prisoner is a half-breed.

Under Contract.—We are glad to learn that the work of repairing the sidewalk around the building of P. Raleigh, Esq., is under contract, and will be completed immediately. Some of the materials were on the ground yesterday. Through the enterprise of Mr. Tom. Harris the cellar has been nearly pumped dry of a very bad quality of water.

Bad Practice.—Some times a man is caught in the act of throwing glass in the street, which is a violation of law in this city, and compels an officer to make an arrest. Yesterday John Chinaman, named Jim Herbee, paid a fine of $5 and costs for an offense of this nature, upon conviction before Judge Hoffman.

On the Wave.—Yesterday a medium sized scow, with a family and all their "household stuff," cow, calf, poultry, etc., sailed past the city bound to the Southard under a stiff breeze. The crew, each and all, wore the marks of contented spirits, as visibly written as good nature can print it.

Crawford's Stump Extractor.—This handy and powerful machine was put to work yesterday in raising the roof of the Franklin Book Store, for some purpose connected with the improvements of Mr. G. M. Carter on the adjoining building. Of course the roof "come," upon the application of a small amount of muscle.

Gone into New Quarters.—Sheriff Stitzel and County Clerk H. C. Coulson will to-day occupy their new quarters at the new Court House. The office of Mr. Coulson will be on the south side of the hall, on the ... floor, and that of Mr. Stitzel on the north side just opposite.

The New Map.—The new map of this city lately made by City Surveyor Burrage, is now completed and has been filed at the Common Council Chamber for the benefit of the public. It is a fine specimen of workmanship in that line.

John Doe.—This much abused title appeared on the docket of the Recorder's Court yesterday opposite four separate and distinct charges, for violation of city Ordinances. John Doe is worse than John Chinaman.

Fire.—Several stumps were destroyed by fire on Park street last night. No further damage was done than that of calling out the department at 12 o'clock, midnight.

Quick Time.—A dispatch was received at this office yesterday, at 3:15 P. M., dated "Boston, July 31st, 3:10 P. M." This is quick enough for ordinary time.

There is an important message for B. Elliot at the telegraph office in this city.

Samuel R. Wells, the phrenologist, has published a book on Signs of Character, as manifested in the temperament and features of the individual. As the nose is most prominent among the physiognomical developments which distinguish people from each other, of course he devotes a large space to this branch of his subject. Just to think of any one having the temerity to write a treatise on noses after we have had a translation of Slawkenbergius by Sterne!

THE HUMAN FACE.—What vast expression is there in the human face. Julius Cæsar, Napoleon, Washington, Jackson, Grant and other great generals have nobility of features both on and off the field of battle to a wonderful degree. To get the features in repose and beauty by Photography you must go to ELLSWORTH & CARDWELL'S GALLERY, 89 First street.

FROM IDAHO.

We clip the following from the World of the 21st:

BURGLARY AND HEAVY ROBBERY.

The fire-proof building occupied by the County Auditor and the Collector was entered between 10 and 11 o'clock on Thursday evening, the safe broken open and $7,000 in gold dust carried off. The office was closed shortly after ten o'clock. A short time after, Mr. Murphy, standing on the corner near the Poujade House, in conversation, heard a sound in the direction of the office like a muffled hammering. He immediately went to the office, tried the front door, which was locked, and then went around the building to the rear door, which he found broken open. As he came around the house, a man ran out, through the alley leading to Montgomery street. Messrs. Foye and Clowry coming up, they entered the house, found the safe, an old one, belonging to the county, broken open and rifled of its contents. A trunk was broken open, bed and papers overturned and scattered about the room. On examination of the alley, one of the purses, containing over $4,000, was found where it had apparently been thrown by the burglar in his hasty retreat. Most of the money taken was deposits of individuals, some of the funds of the Fenian organization, and about $600 of county money belonging to Mr. Foye, the Collector, who had the money on deposit, awaiting his monthly payments to the County Treasurer. The operator was undoubtedly a skillful and experienced burglar. His operations were assisted by the injuries which the safe had received in the fire of '65. The loss is heavy on some private individuals, but the county fortunately lost but little, which sum will be replaced by the Collector out of his own funds.

KILLED BY A CAVING BANK.

Mr. Bernard Grube, a miner at work on the claim of Roach & Co., on Elk creek, a little above town, was killed, last Tuesday, by the sudden caving of a bank under which he was at work. Mr. Grube was a native of Herzogthum, Oldenburg, Germany, and was about twenty-nine years of age. He was struck on the breast with a rock, which knocked him down. He arose to his feet, but immediately fell again, striking his head against the bank leaving him insensible. He died soon after. He was esteemed by his acquaintances as a worthy, honest, industrious young man, and was followed to the grave by a large procession.

The following items are from the Idaho Union of the 19th inst:

AN ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

As the editor of this paper (the Union) was passing across the street, from Vanfino's to Cody's corner, about 3 o'clock in the afternoon of yesterday, he was assaulted by Jack Gorman, under Sheriff, and beaten in a very brutal manner. It seems that the article in Tuesday's Union—in which Gorman's name was used, has given offense. Gorman met Mr. McLaughlin and asked if he had written the article. Mc replied that he did. Gorman said, "I am not a candidate, why do you use my name?" To this, McLaughlin replied that he thought he had a right to do so, and started to go away, when Gorman struck him a blow in the face which felled him to the earth, and while he was down, kicked him badly in the face, inflicting some heavy though not dangerous gashes upon him. McLaughlin was unarmed. He was taken into the office of Dr. Talbot and had his wounds dressed. He will be unable to attend to his duties for several days. We leave the public to make its own reflections and comments on this affair.

FATAL AND SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Mr. Michael McGill and Mr. Lynch, two citizens of Pioneer, were crushed by the caving of a tunnel at that place, on Tuesday morning last. Mr. Lynch died from the injuries received, at 11 o'clock, A. M., of the same day. Mr. McGill is very badly injured and but little hopes of his recovery are entertained. He has a family, and owned the claims on which he was at work at the time of the accident. Both were amongst the best citizens of the county.

NOT GUILTY.

The time of the District Court was on yesterday occupied with the trial of C. D. Vajan, indicted for the crime of embezzlement. After an absence of fifteen minutes, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

THE MIDDLETON MILL AND LEDGES.

The Middleton Mill and Ledges are situated within six or seven miles of Idaho City, on Deer Creek. The mill is a ten stamp mill, run by a steam engine of 50-horse power. The machinery is compact and well built—no redundancy of gearing about it, but every piece made to do its appropriate duty. It has an abundance of timber about it to last for half a century.

On Monday last we visited the ledge and mill in company with Mr. Moiz, the Superintendent. A good road leads from the toll house up the divide to the mill and ledges. First, we came to the Buffalo ledge and explored its tunnels and shafts. This ledge is situated about three quarters of a mile from the mill, on the divide between the waters of Grimes' and Moore's creeks. There are three men to work on the ledge at present, taking out rock. It is this rock that the mill is at present working on. A well-timbered tunnel, of about 200 feet—on the ledge—brings you to the galleries, or, in miners' phrase, stoping—where the men are at work. This stoping consists of a series of galleries driven in on the ledge at a higher altitude than the tunnel, and from these galleries the ore from the tunnel drops down, as the workmen, with pick or powder, disentangle it, to the tunnel, from whence it is conveyed outside and carried to the mill. At present there is but one tunnel run in upon the ledge, but two others, at a lower altitude in the mountain, are being commenced, and they will be worked with the same system of stoping and galleries as the present one. Even to an inexperienced eye this system of working ledges is the best, for it affords room to put any number of men to work in the narrow compass of a tunnel. The ledge here is about three feet wide. It dips considerably to the southwest. The tunnel is well ventilated by a shaft of about 50 feet deep to the top of the surface. It costs about $2 50 a ton to cart the ore to the mill, by the present road, but a new railroad will soon be constructed over which the carriage of the ore will not cost over 75 cents per ton. The mill has six or seven ledges about it, but we visited only the "Buffalo" and the "Stevens." The Stevens has a shaft of 135 feet sunk on it. It is at present pretty well filled with water. We descended it some distance and found a well defined ledge of about eighteen inches wide, growing wider as it descended. Hoisting machinery will be put upon it this fall. At present the mill is running only five stamps on Buffalo Lodge ore. The yield is about $20 to the ton. When we saw it though running only a portion of a day since being cleaned up—the plates were well covered with amalgam.

The following is condensed from the Avalanche of the 21st:

MINING OPERATIONS.

The Varney & Cerico ledge, situated on Florida Mountain and south-west of our office one mile, was discovered July 20th. Nine ounces of the float quartz gave two dollars in gold by hand pound. Rock from the ledge has even better than that. Cover it with borax and subject it to the heat of a forge, little globules of gold and silver will come to the surface and literally cover the ore. In considerable of the ore gold may be seen with the naked eye. Four men are at work raising ore. At ten feet deep the ledge is thirty inches wide.

The Moise and Vass mill is crushing rock from Whisky Gulch. This ledge contains some remarkably rich ore.

Bell & McCann took out of Jacob's Gulch, after mining part of a week, $2,000 of bright gold and as much more in the quicksilver. ... of it was coarse gold.

Parties are prospecting the Rosedale ledge.

The Boorman and Hays and Ray suit has been compromised satisfactorily to parties interested. A large force of workmen are engaged in the mine, and a great quantity of ore is being prepared for shipment to New York and Europe.

The New York and Owyhee Company's mill and the Oro Fino mill are crushing ore. The developments made show ore in large quantities.

Two shifts of five men each are working the Dardanelles, this shaft forty feet deep. The ore looks richer as it is found deeper. The ore is being crushed at the Cosmos mill.

IMPORTANT INDIAN NEWS.

A letter from Camp McDermit, of July 14th, says: We fall in here to-day for provisions and horse shoes. Col. Jennings, myself and Maj. Hill, Cutler and Anderson, came here and left the command about twenty miles from this place. We are now loading up ten days' rations for one hundred and twenty-five mounted men. We are cooking by Winnemucca's fires. We have invited him to fight us and let him choose the ground, but we have not been able to bring him to a stand yet. He would not stand on the Smoke Marshall field. We run him over it, and he is going towards Queen River Mountains, and throwing away everything they can do without. They are but a few miles ahead of us, about three hundred strong, and a good deal of stock. Our animals are all sore footed that it makes everything go slow. The boys are in good spirits, and keen for a fight. We have lived on raw bacon and cold bread for a week. Col. Baker, of this post, is a brick; he has rendered us all the assistance in his power; and filled our requisitions in one hour's time, and is going with us with twenty-five of his command mounted. I think we have got all the Owyhee Indians in one band in our front, and I think we will cook their goose when we overtake them. The Indians are eating three or four horses each day. Their scouts are daily in sight. We will move at half after three o'clock in the morning. I will return to camp to-night about midnight. Col. Jennings will come on with the soldiers from this post, and we will get together south of Summit Springs.

The Avalanche issued the following Extra on the morning of July 21st:

We received the following letter after the paper was printed and published, but as the Indian business is a subject of constant remark and inquiry, we send this out for the latest that is reliable:

Camp C. F. Smith, Oregon, July 17, 1866.

Messrs. Warren Eds. "Avalanche":—Capt. Walker, with 18 men, had a fight with Indians, (70 or 80 in number) to-day, on Stein's Mountain, killing 3 and wounding 5. An express is just in. He followed the trail, from where the Indians attacked the stage, 70 miles in a day and a half. Five of his animals were shot—his own among the number. One of his men was wounded in the foot. No losses. The wounded animals were all brought off. So many of his animals being wounded, and the rest broken down by hard riding in pursuing the Indians, necessitated his return. Lieut. Moulton is on the trail, and Jennings will join him to-morrow. Yours, in haste,

DR. W. A. TOMPKINS.

ADDITIONAL.

Messenger Reed, (the bearer of the above—and who was in the fight,) says that several of the Jennings party got into a muss among themselves while at Camp Smith, and shot each other considerably—Green and Bennett wounded—the former badly. Particulars somewhat mixed. Capt. McMillan and most of his command will be home to-day. Lieutenant Moulton and command are of the Camp McDermit Regular Cavalry, and what with these, a few of Capt. Walker's men, and the remainder of the Jennings party, there are yet seventy or eighty good men hard after Mr. Indian. The Chico Stage is not expected again for several days. Capt. Walker's command is infantry, and is scattered along at different stations. He makes the best of the situation. Pity he can't have half a chance.

The savages, as they were fleeing from the citizen volunteers, connected with the Chico Stage, nine miles this side of White Horse Creek. They shot and wounded one man and killed two horses. This demoralized matters so that the stages failed to reach here as they should, but came in Tuesday night late, and left Wednesday with eight passengers. Soldiers are now patroling the road, and no further trouble is apprehended.

[In addition to the above we learn from G. Collier Robbins Esq. on Tuesday morning of last week, that the Indians numbering 150 had destroyed several ranches in Jordan Valley and had surrounded Camp Lyon fifteen miles from Ruby City. The steam whistles of the mills were calling for volunteers when he left, and it was supposed that one hundred would go immediately to the assistance of the Camp. Jennings with the volunteers, and the regulars under Capt. Walker, were Pursuing a large force of Indians near Stein's mountain.

Generals Ingalls and Babcock had arrived at Boise City and were to leave there last Tuesday morning. They may be expected here to-morrow (Thursday). Ed. Oregonian.]

For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in Bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

G. VENARD,
CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 631 FRONT ST.

Has constantly on hand ground and roasted coffee, green coffee of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.
Each package bears the signature of G. VENARD.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
READ AND REFLECT.

Make sure of Health. "But how?" you ask;
We answer, 'tis an easy task,
Strengthen the Stomach, and sustain
The Nerves, the servants of the brain.
The Liver keep in active play
And regulate, from day to day.
Each organ aid, on Nature's plan,
Brace and refresh the inner man,
And like a watch that's kept in chime
By constant care, with railroad time,
The system's tone and strength renew,
And thereby cheer the spirits, too.
"How," you inquire, "can this be done?
This Victory o'er Disease be won?"
"Hostetter's Bitters," we reply,
Is Health's supreme protection—try!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and enfeebled system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution, and prolonging life, no medicinal preparation, either of the past or the present time, has been so completely and universally successful as

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Against the vapors foul prepare,
That fever-taint the heavy air,
Drink not unmixed the water found
In prairies, woods or marshy ground.
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist—or die—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries.
Medicine's grand purpose and intent
Is threatened evil to prevent;
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters use—for note
They are the SUREST ANTIDOTE

To set at defiance the miasma of unhealthy soils, the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work-rooms and factories, and the baneful influence of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be forearmed with

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body, and depress the mind;
Agues, that as they go and come,
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dysenteric pains,
'Neath which the strong man's vigor wanes;
Bilious complaints, those tedious ills;
Ne'er conquered yet by drastic pills;
Dread diarrhoea that cannot be
Cured by destructive mercury;
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer, day by day;
Nervous prostration, mental gloom—
Heralds of madness or the tomb;
For these, though mineral nostrums fail—
Means of Relief at least we hail,
Hostetter's Bitters—medicine sure,
Not to prevent, alone, but cure.

In dyspepsia, fever and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation, sea-sickness, spasms, and in all complaints of Man or Woman, proceeding from ... or inherent weakness of the body, the one great remedy and restorative is

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

To wanderers on sea or land,
From Polar shore to Tropic strand;
To households lone, in regions new,
And dwellers in great cities, too;
To soldiers in camp; fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners, California bound,
And tillers of wet, marshy ground;
To feeble wives of fragile mold,
To young and middle-aged, and old;
To those in health, who would enjoy
Heaven's best gifts without alloy;
To all the strengthless, weak and pale,
Who droop, yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we present
As Health's most potent element.

If there is any value in public opinion, or any weight in medical testimony, the very best and safest Tonic, Corrective and Alterative now before the world is

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Sold by respectable druggists in all parts of the world.

Evenings at Home

A writer in the Ladies' Repository tells the following pleasant story The husband greatly to the annoyance of his young wife, had acquired the habit of spending his evenings away from home, and her earnest protest against his practice resulted in his agreement to stay in every evening for a week, and allow her to be absent The result is what might be expected in every case where true and strong affection exists between the husband and wife

Monday evening came and George Wilson remained true to his promise His wife put on her bonnet and shawl and he said he would remain at home and keep house

"What will you do when I am gone?" Emma asked

"Oh, I shall read, and sing, and enjoy myself generally"

"Very well," said Emma, "I shall be back early"

The wife went out, and the husband was left alone He had an interesting book, and he began to read it He read till 8 o clock, and then he began to yawn, and looked frequently at the clock The book did not interest him as usually Ever and anon he would come to a passage which he knew would please his wife, and instinctively he turned as though he would read it aloud, but there was no wife to hear it At half past 8 o'clock he arose from his chair, and began to pace the floor and whistle Then he went and got his flute and played several of his favorite airs After this he got a chess board, and played a game with an imaginary partner Then he walked the floor and whistled again. Finally the clock struck nine, and his wife returned

"Well, George," said she, "I am back in good time How have you enjoyed yourself?"

"Capitally" returned the husband; "I had no idea it was so late I hope you have enjoyed yourself?"

"Oh, splendidly!" said the wife, "I had no idea how much enjoyment there was away from home Home is a dull place, after all, isn't it?"

"Why, no, I cannot say that it is," returned George, carelessly "In fact," he added, "I rather like it"

"I am glad of that," retorted Emma, "for we shall have a nice comfortable week of it"

George winced at this but he kept his countenance, and determined to stand it out.

On the next evening Emma prepared to go off again

"I shall be back in good time," she said

"Where are you going, Emma?" her husband asked

"Oh I can't tell exactly, I may go to several places"

So George Wilson was left alone again, and he tried to amuse himself as before but he found it a difficult task Ever and anon he would cast his eyes on the empty chair, and the thought would come, "how pleasant it would be if she were here" The clock finally struck nine and he began to listen for the steps of his wife Half an hour more slipped by, and he became very nervous and uneasy

"I declare" he muttered to himself, after he had listened for some time in vain, "this is too bad She ought not to stay out so late"

But he happened to remember that he often remained away much later than that, so he concluded to make the best of it.

At a quarter to ten Emma came home

"A little late, am I not?" she said, looking up at the clock "But I fell in with some old friends. How have you enjoyed yourself?"

"First rate," returned George, bravely "I think home is a capital place"

"Especially when a man can have it all to himself," added the wife, with a sidelong glance at her husband. But he made no reply

On the next evening Emma prepared to go out as before, but this time she kissed her husband ere she went, and seemed to hesitate about leaving

"Where do you think of going?" George asked in an undertone

"I may drop in to see Uncle John," replied Emma "However, you won't be uneasy. You know I'm safe"

"Oh, certainly," said her husband; but when left to his own reflections, he began to ponder seriously on the subject thus presented for consideration

He could not read, he could not play or enjoy himself in any way, while the chair was empty. In short he found that home had no real comfort without his wife The one thing needful to make George Wilson's home pleasant was not present.

"I declare," he said to himself, "I did not think it would be so lonesome And can it be that she feels as I do when she is here all alone? It must be so, it is just as she says Before we were married she was very happy in her childhood's home Her parents loved her, and they did all they could to make her comfortable"

After this he walked up and down the room several times, and then stopped again and communed with himself.

"I can't stand this," said he, "I should die in a week If Emma were here, I think I could amuse myself very well. How lonesome and dreary it is! And only eight o'clock! I declare I've a mind to walk down as far as Uncle John's and see if she is there I won't go in. She shan't know yet that I held out so faintly."

George Wilson took another turn across the room, glanced once more at the clock, and then took his hat and went out.

He then locked the door after him, and then bent his steps towards Uncle John's

It was a beautiful moonlight night, and the air was keen and bracing. He was walking along with his eyes bent upon the pavement, when he heard a light step approaching him. He looked up, and—he could not be mistaken—he saw his wife

His first impulse was to avoid her, but she had recognized him

"George," she said in surprise, "can this be you?"

"It is," was the response

"And do you pass your evenings at home?"

"This is the first time I have been out, Emma, upon my word, and even now I have not been absent from the house ten minutes I merely came out to take the fresh air. But where are you going?"

"I am going home, George, will you go with me?"

"Certainly," returned George.

She then took his arm, and they walked home in silence.

When Emma had taken off her things, she sat down in her chair and looked at the clock on the wall.

"You are home early to-night," remarked her husband,

The young wife looked up into her husband's face, and with an expression half smiling and half tearful, she said

"I will confess the truth, George—I have given you the experiment. I managed to stand it last evening, but I could not bear it through to-night. When I thought of you here all alone, I wanted to be with you It didn't seem right. I haven't enjoyed myself at all. I have not any home but this"

"Say you so?" cried George, moving his chair to his wife's side, and taking one of her hands in his.

"Then let me make my confession. I have stood it not a whit better When I left the house this evening I could bear it no longer. I found that this was no home for me while my wife was absent I thought I would walk down to Uncle John's and see your face, if possible I had gazed upon your chair until my heart ached"

The next evening was spent at home by husband and wife and it was a season of much enjoyment.

In a short time, George began to realize how much comfort was to be found in a quiet and peaceful home, and the longer he enjoyed this comfort, the more plainly did he see and understand the simple truth that it takes two to make a happy home, and if the wife is one party the husband must be the other

A W RANDALL —The Shasta Courier has the following notice of the new Postmaster General.

This gentleman has been nominated by the President to the position of Postmaster General Under ordinary circumstances this nomination should not be objectionable to the radical Union party of the nation, for Randall's political record since the culmination of the rebellion, and up to the incoming of his Accidency, Johnson, has been of the radical stamp, but the writer of this knows "Alec"—knew him long, long years ago, knew him when he migrated from some place in New York to a little one-horse town in the then Territory of Wisconsin, called Prairieville, now known as Waukesha, where he put out his shingle as attorney at-law He was a Whig then, that is, when he first arrived there, but Milwaukee county, in which this town was situated had a weakness for giving heavy Democratic majorities, and through that "means" Alec saw that it was all a mistake about his being a Whig More mature deliberation with gentle hints from Bill Barstow and A F Pratt, of that ilk, satisfied him that he was only a Whig in name, that his principles were really Democratic, and thereupon he discarded the name Whig and announced himself a Democrat and became one of the "Forties" (a political clique known as "Forty Thieves") Immediately thereafter he solicited the Post Office of that burg and got it It was just such a "pi at orfis" as would have contented Petroleum V Nasby Were it not that Alec is constitutionally lazy and entirely devoid of principle, he would make a good officer He has talent enough—such as it is

QUARTERMASTER'S SUPPLIES FOR THE PACIFIC COAST —The Senate sometime since added a section to the Army Appropriation Bill directing the Quartermaster General, in advertising for supplies for the military service to state that preference would be given to articles of American manufacture or production, conditions of quality or price being equal and that such preference shall be given to articles of American production and manufacture produced on the Pacific coast to the extent of the production required by the public service there provided that the latter is offered at a price as low as they can be obtained of bidders on the Atlantic coast, with the cost of freight added

The House Committee recommended an amendment striking out the provision for adding the cost of freight, and after discussion the section was amended so as to simply declare that preference shall always be given to articles of American manufacture or production when quality or price are equally favorable In the course of the debate Mr McRuer supported the Senate provision, saying —

"It only provides that they shall purchase on the Pacific coast such articles as can be procured as low as articles on this side, adding the cost of transportation I think that it is just and right that these young manufacturers on the Pacific coast should be encouraged to that extent, that the military department should buy all such articles as they may manufacture there provided they can be procured as cheaply as articles manufactured on the Atlantic coast, adding the cost of transportation Certainly these young manufacturers might be encouraged by the Government to that extent, therefore I hope the amendment will not be concurred in"

Mr Bidwell disclaimed all desire that any undue preference should be given to the Pacific coast, adding "It is a fact that we have manufactories there of various articles, and that we produce those articles at prices which will compare favorably with the same articles on this side, we make a better article of blanket than is manufactured on this side At all events they are in no wise inferior to any article manufactured anywhere in the United States or elsewhere Now, sir, it seems to me that if these articles can be purchased at the same price, all things considered, adding the cost of freight from the Atlantic seaboard to the Pacific coast, it is not asking too much to allow the Quartermasters to purchase them from the manufacturers upon the Pacific coast. We do not ask any preference, we simply ask to be placed upon the same footing, taking into consideration the quality of the article and the price of the freight from the Atlantic to the Pacific"

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhea Gleet Stricture Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, bloated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of — or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies — they are cared for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, — about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to such patients a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co
